steig. She has a voice with which she can thrill it in and each time she is on a concert program she has gained in artistic value and her voice is gaining in strength. Charming she always is. This came on for her and stayed. She was admirably accompanied by Mrs. Nadeau. Mrs. Wolf's numbers were an aria, "The Rose Tree," a duet from "The Merchant of Venice" by Bizet; and "Gloria" by Radloff. She sang as an encore, "The Town Bells," greatly to the delight of the audience.

Saturday Society Review

For those who attended the installation and tea of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the affair was one of the most enjoyable of the season. The first thing that impressed the guests was the homelike atmosphere of the reception room with its cheerfully burning fireplace and soft shade lighting effects. At the end of the room before the windows was the table laid with a beautiful hand worked white cloth and set with a silver service. The color scheme of silver and white was further carried out in the silver and glass candlesticks with white wax candles, a magnificent ivory Wedgwood bowl with an unusual white mistletoe tree, and smaller baby's breath, and delicate baby's breath. The only color on the table was a diminutive touch of green in the base of each of the four glass candlesticks. It would be difficult to imagine any scheme more effective than the simplicity and richness of this table arrangement as it had been worked out in all its best possibilities by the social activities committee. Mrs. James T. O'Reilly, chairman, Mrs. Walter Fales and Mrs. Edward B. Loughran. The mantle over the fireplace still further carried out the silver and white color scheme, although here was added a brighter holiday touch in the center banking of silver poinsettias and red and green leaves with two effective imported red mistletoe trees at each end.

One wrapped ten cent present will be the price of admission to the Christmas party to be held Tuesday evening by the Kingston College Women's Club at the Y. W. C. A. at 7:45 o'clock. A program has been arranged, which it is hoped, will appeal to the varied tastes and diversified interests of this group. Underlying all plans for a first rate good time, however, is the hope that through the evening the members may arrive at a fuller acquaintance. In this program of genuine fun, the Christmas season will be recognized in the singing of carols and the exchange of gifts. It is earnestly desired that every member make a real effort to attend.

The Junior League will meet Monday, December 11, at the home of Mrs. William Anderson Carl on Green street. As usual, the time of meeting is at 2:30 o'clock. It is important that all members of the League attend as the club desires a complete report on tickets at this time.

Those who remember the fairy tale, "Cinderella," as presented by the pupils of Emilia Riccobono Weyhe's classes in dancing two years ago, and those who at that time were denied the privilege of seeing that production, will be happy to know that this dance drama will be repeated this coming January. Many of the characters who so captivated the audience at that time will appear again, assisted by some 30 small dancers. They will be accompanied by Ted Riccobono and his orchestra. The production will be given for some worthy and needy cause, which will be announced later.

Some 70 participants in the Junior League Revue to be held Wednesday, December 20, at the Broadway Theatre, are meeting daily at the American Legion Building on West O'Reilly street. Here they work assiduously at skits, dances, musical numbers, choruses and ensembles for the coming "show" which they assure their prospective audience will equal in every way the splendid and enjoyable production of last season. Altogether there will be 17 scenes. Music will be furnished by Mollott's orchestra. The electricians are also busy arranging for a series of startling and unusual lighting effects which will add atmosphere and life to the settings. The Junior League members had full assurance, when they began selling tickets this week, of the pleasure with which Kingstonians remembered the League Revue of 1932, for already a large section of the house has been taken and requests for seats are becoming increasingly urgent. So there is little question but that the local artists will play to a full house when the curtain rises at 8:15 o'clock, one week from Wednesday evening.

Miss Helen Sheldon of 194 West Chestnut street, well-known and accomplished harpist, has opened a studio at her home. Miss Sheldon has studied in Paris and also in New York where she was a pupil of Miss Orling who will be remembered as the harpist soloist and accompanist in the second of last year's community concerts at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The opening of Miss Sheldon's studio gives those of the city desiring to study the harp their first opportunity to do so at home under a competent instructor.

Mr. and Mrs. Myron Teller of Pine Street returned Sunday from New Haven where they had spent the Thanksgiving holiday as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ely.

Mrs. George Richards Wight, who has been spending some time at the Huntington, left on Tuesday for High Mount, where she is staying at the home of Mr. Gurnison.

Mrs. Charles M. Preston, with her daughter, Mrs. Elsie Lovett, and granddaughter, Jean Lovett, have taken rooms at the Eagle Hotel, where they will spend the winter.

The Rev. Ernest R. Paley, formerly of Kingston, now pastor of the Middle Collegiate Church, New York city, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis, has returned to his home, where he is convalescing.

Mrs. Thomas Goldsmith of Albany has received an invitation from the Athletic Association of Columbia University to attend the basketball tournament, December 12, which is being given in honor of the university's football team. During the week the Columbia team has accepted the invitation to represent the east in the annual gridiron classic in Rensselaer on New Year's Day.

Miss June MacFadden of Pearl Street who has been spending the week with her sister, Miss Dorothy MacFadden, at Great Neck, Long Island, returned home yesterday.

Miss Jane Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Appleton Gregory of Albany, who was unable to spend Thanksgiving with her grandmother, Mrs. Guilford Hasbrouck, on account of illness, is now recovered and has returned to school.

On Wednesday a number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Washburn of Saugerties gave them a surprise party at their home on Barclay Heights. After their cordial reception by the party, the guests were playing contract bridge and parlor games.

Mrs. Williams Carter, who has been spending some time in Philadelphia, has returned to her home on Albany avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Ellis, Jr. of Margaretville, are spending the week-end with Mrs. Ellis' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Snyder, at their home on Fair street.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the high school has planned for their next meeting, December 19, a program which will demonstrate the value of student assemblies. At that time the Christmas play which will be given before the student body later in the week will be put on by the members of the Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Madeline Tarrant. The music department, which is directed by Leonard Stine, will have a part of the program. The play that the Dramatic Club has decided to give is "Reverie" by Percival Wilde. The principal roles which have been selected will be taken by Miss Noel Thompson, Robert Gere, James Ryan and Edward Meaden. It is hoped that many of the parents will take this unusual opportunity to learn more fully of the splendid work of the dramatic and music organizations.

Those who are so fortunate as to hold tickets for the series of Kingston Community Concerts are again reminded that the first of these will be held Friday, December 15, at the high school auditorium. At that time they will have the opportunity to hear Richard Crooks, one of America's most famous tenors.

Professor Rudolphe Vidua of New York and Woodstock announces that he will conduct an academy of music at 45 Main street where he will teach violin, chamber and orchestral music. Professor Vidua comes to Kingston with a splendid reputation as a teacher acquired in Europe and in this country. Many of his former pupils are today prominent teachers, conductors and concert artists. He is the father and former teacher of Raoul Vidua, internationally known concert violinist.

Miss Ruth Neal, soprano and pupil of Robert Hawley of this city, made her first appearance as a concert artist at Oakwood School, Poughkeepsie, Sunday evening, December 5. Miss Neal delighted her audience and has been assured of a return engagement. Her lyric soprano voice is colorful, showing poise and culture. That she had the ability to stir her audience was quickly gathered from the genuineness of the applause and the insistent desire of the gathering for encores. Among the numbers that she sang were "One Fine Day" from Madame Butterfly by Puccini, "Will o' the Wisp" by Charles Gilbert Spross, "Gloria" from the Firefly by Friml, "Bost Song" by Harriet Ware, and "Vissi D'Amore" from the opera Tosca again by Puccini.

George De Forrest Smith of East Orange, arrived Tuesday to spend some time with his grandmother, Mrs. George De Forrest Smith at her home, 295 Pearl street.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Halverson of 186 Manor avenue entertained a few friends informally at their home following the Mendelssohn concert last evening.

Last Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. George Kaufman of Saugerties entertained a number of local and Kingston friends at their home. Both cards and parlor games were played.

Among those attending the piano recital given last evening by Joseph Lhevinne at Poughkeepsie were Mrs. Antonio Knauth, Mr. and Mrs. Robert R. Rodie and their son, Robert, and Mrs. Henry Dunbar of Hurley.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Chambers of Pearl street, accompanied by Miss Margaret Price of Albany avenue, and Willard B. Wood, Jr., of Orange, N. J., motored to New Haven last Saturday where they attended the Yale-Princeton football game.

Mrs. Emanuel Metzger is spending several days in Kingston as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gary Noyes at their home on Wall street.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Smith of Brooklyn returned November 25 from a two months' trip abroad where they visited France, Italy, England, Germany and Ireland. Mr. and Mrs. Smith with their two daughters spend their summers at the cottage on the Snydam Farm.

Mrs. Rodney Osterhout of Pearl street and Mrs. Joseph M. Fowler of Wall street went to New York city with Mrs. Anson Fowler early this week.

Miss Jennie R. Hildebrand spent the week-end in Kingston as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gary Noyes at their home on Wall street.

Thursday evening the members of the Henrietta Wynkoop Guild of the First Reformed Church, held their annual meeting which was preceded by a supper for the Guild members. This meeting which was held in the chapel was for the purpose of electing the officers for the following year. Those chosen were: President, Mrs. Howard St. John; first vice president, Mrs. Homer Emerick; second vice president, Mrs. Elmer Van Tassel; secretary, Mrs. William Turk and treasurer, Miss Mary Case.

The Misses Helen and Virginia Glaze of Allgerville left Monday for Saginaw, Michigan, where they will join their mother in visiting relatives for the Christmas holiday season.

Mrs. William Kemble of 113 Clinton avenue entertained last Sunday afternoon, December 3, in honor of the sixth birthday of Antoinette Louise Hillson of 163 Hurley avenue. Although several were invited, sickness kept all from attending except Henry, Jr.

Tuesday evening the Service Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church held a card party at the home of Mrs. Delaney DeGraff at her home on Albany avenue. It was a decided success with twenty-seven tables of friends playing. All money raised at this time will be used toward the roofing of the church.

Monday evening the third and last of the fall series of concerts was held at Newburgh at which time the Three Arts Society of that city presented Albert Spalding, violinist, at the Newburgh Free Academy. It was with regret that the large audience from Newburgh, Goshen, Middletown, Beacon, Highland, New Paltz, Kingston and other nearby towns realized that this series which had also presented Lucretia Bori and Harold Bauer and Ossip Gabrilowitch, had closed until another season. Among those attending from Kingston were Mrs. Francis J. Higginson, Mrs. Antonio Knauth, Mrs. Henry Dunbar, Willard van Keuren, Mrs. C. J. Hillis, Mrs. Henry DeWitt, Mrs. John Cordis, Mrs. James O'Connor, Arthur Kurtzacker, W. Whitling, Fredenburgh, Mrs. Ervin E. Norwood, Mrs. Harry P. Dodge, Mrs. Edwin Sweet, Mrs. Florence Cullerly, Adrian Cullerly, Dr. and Mrs. Henry L. Bibby, George V. D. Hutton, Mrs. William C. Shafer, Mrs. George Washburn, Miss Agnes Scott Smith, the Misses Jane and Ethel Mutterstock, Miss Ada S. Fuller, Miss Ethel M. Hull, Miss Louise W. van Hoven, Miss Juliana Wood, Miss Grace Rees, Miss Bradburn, Mrs. John Steketee, Miss Marion Steketee, and Mrs. Cecil Chichester of Woodstock, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Breithaupt of Phenicia.

Thursday evening the home of Mrs. Roger B. Loughran in Hurley opened its doors with proverbial Dutch hospitality to the members of the board of the Women's Exchange and their friends who attended the benefit card party. Once inside the guests who were greeted by Mr. and Mrs. Loughran, seated in receiving by Mrs. Cornelius S. Treadwell, found that they had stepped from the twentieth century back into the latter eighteenth century for here was the same Dutch home that the builder of this hooked rug, maple and mahogany furniture, a butter bowl filled with green and orange squashes standing on the blanket chest that was a prized article of furniture in every colonial sitting room, chintz curtains at the windows, broad fireplaces, tall the landing of the stairway leading from the end of the wide hall made no Dutch home would have been complete. This clock which is now a prized possession of the hostess, once belonged to Thomas Keere, a well known tragedian, and a contemporary on the stage of Joseph Jefferson and Richard Mansfield. It was given to Mrs. Loughran by the actor's granddaughter, Mildred Arden. Here too, one found the original hand wrought iron fittings and hinges, green built eyes in the door and the double doors, characteristic of local stone houses. It would have taken but little imagination to have garbed the ladies in hoopskirts as they descended the stairs and their escorts in frock coats and Beau Brummam trousers of a century ago, close fitting evening dresses and instead of the less picturesque conventional tuxedos.

Tables were arranged in the spacious living rooms for bridge, while the poker players took their places in the upper hall and adjoining rooms. Here the colonial atmosphere was even further emphasized by the low beamed ceilings and wide knotted board floors. In all the rooms there were effective arrangements of roses, carnations and chrysanthemums which had been donated through the generosity of Mr. Burgevin. At the conclusion of the cards, a prize was awarded to the winner at each table, after which delicious, and especially to the men satisfying refreshments were served. The committee in charge of the party were Mrs. Roger H. Loughran, Mrs. Clarence O. Fromer, Mrs. Harold Rakov, Mrs. A. H. Chambers, Mrs. Victor Livingston, Mrs. Cornelius S. Treadwell, Mrs. David Terry, Mrs. Stanley Matthews, Miss Mary Treadwell, Mrs. David Burgevin, Mrs. Ralph Gregory, Mrs. Stephen Hiltibrant and Mrs. Alva Staples.

Yesterday fourteen members of the board of the local Y. W. C. A. motored to Newburgh, where they attended the Neighborhood Conference. There were also delegates from Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, Peekskill and Westchester county. The speakers were Mrs. Harry D. Swain of Peekskill, Mrs. George Sexsmith of Bayonne, New Jersey, of the National Board of the Y. W. C. A., Mrs. Howard A. Lewis of this city and Miss Henrietta Gibson of Albany, chairman of public affairs. Those attending from Kingston were Miss Jean Ester, Mrs. David Terry, Mrs. Myron Teller, Miss Emily Horvath, Mrs. Howard A. Lewis, Mrs. William MacGregor Mills, Mrs. Alva Staples, Mrs. William Kingman, Miss Anna K. Fuller, Mrs. Gerrit Quackenbush, Miss Lillian Herdman, Mrs. Stanley Winters, Frederick L. Coombs and Mrs. George N. Wood.

The Junior Guild of the First Reformed Church held their regular monthly meeting and supper last evening at the church chapel. After a delicious meal prepared by the members themselves with Miss Leona Johnson as chairman, the girls gathered around the Christmas tree for the telling of Christmas stories and legends and the singing of carols. Miss Harriet St. John, the president, conducted the meeting, while Miss Florence Snyder, who had charge of the program, introduced the story tellers, Miss Caroline McCreary and Miss Edna Davis. Each of the twenty members attending brought a toy and dressed doll which will be kept at an Indian school in the west for Christmas. A festive holiday touch was given to the table which had as its center piece a snow covered mirror lake with Santa Claus being drawn in a sled pulled by miniature dogs.

Thursday evening every available inch of space was occupied by the tables for bridge at the card party held at the Knights of Columbus Hall for the benefit of the unemployed nurses and graduates of the Benedictine Hospital. There were prizes and favors for each table.

Those from Saugerties attending the card party given Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Roger B. Loughran in Hurley were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phelps, Mrs. Charles H. Phelps, Mrs. D. G. Gale, Mrs. John T. Washburn and Mrs. Frederick E. W. Darrow.

In the third annual horse show at Albany, held there December 1 and 2, under the auspices of the Albany Cavalry Horse Show Association, horses were entered by Mr. and Mrs. J. Gales Holcombe of Richmond Park, all of them taking prizes. Crown of Gold placed first in the ladies' saddle horse class and second in the combination class where the horses were first ridden and then driven. Willie Reed was awarded red ribbon in the five galloped combination class and placed third in the five galloped novice class. Parcel Post besides being judged the champion saddle horse in the show, captured three blue ribbons, one in the saddle horse sweep stakes, another in the novice saddle horse under 15.2, Gold Trooper, a newer acquisition of the Holcombe stable, placed third in the touch and out sweep stakes. Horses were also entered from the Walkill State Prison, first place being given in the Military Fair event to Policemen Richard Scotton and Alex Kinnerknecht, and blue ribbon also going to Sun Tang, a Walkill State Prison horse, for the best trooper's mount shown. Then Herbert Low, young equestrian of local fame, was awarded third prize in the Seats and Hands class for those between the ages of 14 and 17. Among those attending from Kingston were Mr. and Mrs. J. Gales Holcombe, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Norton Low, Miss Janet Low, Laurens Lasher, Herbert Low and Miss Frances Low.

The parlors of Trinity M. E. Church were a beautiful sight Wednesday afternoon of this week, when the Ladies' Aid Society held a Centennial Tea and Quilt Exhibit.

Some fifty quilts and hand woven coverlets were on display. Several quilts were shown, one belonging to a former pastor's family made by a woman blind from birth. The pattern was intricate and the stitches marvelous. One handsome woven coverlet was a "hand-me-down" in a family and was known to be two hundred years old. A "Mariner's Compass" was very imposing in its beauty and of great value for its rarity.

Several quilts on view were one hundred years old and the designs included "Wedding Ring," "Pineapple," "Oak Leaf," "Double Irish Chain," "Log Cabins" and "Rose of Sharon." The more modern designs were "Stars," "Baskets," "Saw Tooth," "Nectarine" of applique work, newer but no less beautiful. One noticeable difference in the old and modern quilts was the difference in the number of stitches taken; some of the oldest ones being entirely covered with intricate quilting designs of extremely small stitches. Several of the ladies of the Society were gown in costumes of Martha Washington's time, with powdered hair and rinkles over the shoulder and the inevitable patch on the cheek. The tea tables were resplendent with their fine silver services and a beautiful Chinese Grass Linen cover adorned one table. Baskets of roses were there in profusion, all adding to the beauty of the scene. It was a decided success socially and financially and the ladies wish to thank their Esopus friends; the women from other churches who willingly loaned their quilts and also the neighbors who helped make it so successful.

Great credit is due to committees who planned and worked out the affair so well: Mrs. Monroe Burger and Miss Mary Hale, who had charge of securing and displaying the quilts and Mrs. Wesley Gregory, Mrs. Sherman Eighmey, Mrs. Henry Eldridge, Mrs. Henry Willmot and Mrs. F. A. Denning, who managed the afternoon tea.

Miss Helen W. Knauth has returned from New York city where she has been spending the past week with relatives and as the guest of Miss Pauline Davis.

The Misses Edna McElvath of Kingston and Frances Weinmann of Lake Katrine have returned from spending a few days at the Waldorf Astoria, New York city.

Mrs. Alfred D. Van Buren, 2nd, and infant son, Alfred D. 3rd, spent the past week at the home of Mr. Van Buren's parents in New Rochelle.

This evening at 8 o'clock at the Woodstock Art Gallery, the Friends of Art will hold another public social, at which time works of art, including paintings, lithographs, etchings, etc., will be displayed. The social will be under the direction of Carl Eric Lindin, president of the art association, and he will probably be assisted by Konrad Cramer and Judson Smith. Two previous disposals of art works have been held this year by the Friends of Art. Proceeds are used to aid worthy Woodstock colony artists. Contributors whose works have gone at auction are the late George Bellows, Kunis, Mattson, McFee, Fagel, Wiltz, Lindin, Cramer, Peets, Fleene, Bacon, Grace, Evans, Rosen, Speilcher, etc. It is reported by Mr. Lindin that many prominent Kingston folk will attend this evening's party.

The Rev. Louis Schmidtkonz of Hoboken, N. J., spent the week-end with his mother and sister at their home, 211 Washington avenue.

The Rev. and Mrs. H. D. Kraeving of Newburgh visited at the home of Mrs. A. Schmidtkonz, 211 Washington avenue. Mrs. Kraeving is a sister of Mrs. Schmidtkonz.

Train Lost in Quicksands. Historical records show that ships have been engulfed in quicksands. In 1703 thirteen warships were lost in a night and the wrecks entirely swallowed. The effects of quicksands were well illustrated in 1875 by the sinking of a locomotive and train at Pueblo, Colo. The train sank beyond discovery though probed for to a depth of 50 feet.

White Phosphorus Banned. While phosphorus, which once was used in making matches and caused many cases of the industrial disease called "phosby jaw," is prohibited in the match industry by every civilized country.

Largest Dome on Top of West Baden (Ind.) Hotel

The dome of the original central building of the National Capital was constructed of wood, covered with copper, observes the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. This was replaced by the present structure of cast iron, which was completed in 1865.

But how many Americans are aware that the largest dome in the world is in a small town in the Middle West? This town is not a seat of government. It has a population of only about 2,000, and it has no large cathedral comparable to those in the great cities of the United States and Europe. "It is a safe guess," says the Manchester Guardian, "that few know where the largest dome on earth is now to be found. It is on top of a huge hotel in a small town in the Middle West of America—West Baden, Ind." Indeed, few Americans know this.

The span of the dome at West Baden is twelve feet broader than the dome of St. Peter's. The builders' problem was not the making of a big dome, but the contrivance of adequately strong supports to hold one. It rests on sixteen solid brick piers, inclosed in a thick skin of mortar. The lime binds the masonry into an almost impenetrable mass, through its ability to absorb carbon dioxide from the air to unite with the sand and bricks.

Investigation discloses there is a hotel in West Baden Spring, Ind., having a dome of steel and over 18,000 square feet of glass skylight, covering 40,000 square feet of floor space, the largest single room in the world.

The federal government's program for destroying hoodlums and pigs should be extended to include road bugs.

In Reverse
Said a lady when driving in town to a man on a bike—with a frown: "I don't care a bit for riding back up and beat down."

Bicycling is coming back. That is as it should be. Bicycling is a healthy diversion and deserves encouragement. When the inevitable happens and some luckless motorist plows into a bicycle one of these fine winter evenings, killing the rider, however, it will undoubtedly be found that there were no lights on the wheel.

Note to Motorists: Railroad rules do not forbid trains to use the track just because you have seen one pass on the track next to you.

Small Boy (bragging)—My daddy is mayor, and when he drives his car he doesn't have to pay any attention to traffic rules.
His Friend—That's nothing. My father is a truck driver.

Garage Owner's Assistant—Hey Boss! Your doctor's out here with a car tire and he wants to know what it's going to cost him.
Garage Owner—Diagnose the case as flatulence of the perimeter and charge him $10.00.

They ought to put governors on all cars driven by reckless drivers. Get one with a 30-mile per hour limit and he will find himself helpless when he begins to have the hankering to pass somebody.

Americanism: Doing the daily dozen for health and trying to pass another car on a blind curve an hour later.

Going To Church
Some go to church to take a walk. Some go there to laugh and talk. Some go there to meet a friend. Some go there to spend. Some go there to meet a lover. Some go there to a fault to cover. Some go there for speculation. Some go there for observation. Some go there to doze and nod. The wise go there to worship God.

Woman—I have always had a presentiment that I should die young.
Her Dearest Friend—Well, darling, you didn't after all did you?

When a boy asks for a girl's hand, father probably hopes he will take the head that has been in his pockets all these years.

"Let children have their pets," says a local man. "Dogs are valuable not only as a protection of the home from intrusion, but as pets for children."

Two men of color were discussing the circus the other night.
First—Going to the circus?
Second—Sure!
First—Going in?
Second—No.

A Kingston woman does her own housework, but will not allow her husband to help "do" the dishes. "Somehow I cannot endure seeing him wash or wipe the dishes. He is my hero," she says. She's only been married ten days.

One Sound Mosquitoes Hear
Many insects, like gnats and mosquitoes, probably hear but one sound during the brief final stage of their lives—the buzzing of their mates. If the note is reproduced by a tuning-fork near a captured male gnat his feelers, the organs of hearing, at once quiver. Automatically they are so adjusted to the vibrations that each is equally attuned. If a male gnat were in a concert hall he would hear no note of music, but if a female buzzed, he would be at her side in a moment. Her own shrill note is due to the vibration of membranes at the openings of the breathing tubes.

Largest Game Preserve
High above the north rim of the Grand canyon in Arizona the United States government has set aside a district of 2,500 square miles, comprising about 1,500,000 acres, as a preserve for deer. Named the Kaibab National Forest, it is the largest and most unique preserve of its kind in the world.

On above the three shufflows pounce on the Gnome.
Tells Puff, "Change us back or I'll thump your bald dome!"
The queer little man says the magic phrase.
And changes them back to their everyday ways.

GOING Christmas shopping without knowing what you're going to buy is like trying to use a pay phone without a directory.

Going Christmas shopping without knowing what you're going to spend is like trying to use the phone without a nickel.

You may get through on the first—for the stores are full of pleasant surprises. But go hit or miss on spending—and either your Christmas list or your Christmas budget is bound to strike a snag.

The ad reading habit is invaluable at Christmas time. It lets you plan your list in advance. You know what you're going to give to whom. You know how much it's going to cost . . . down to the last little penny!

Reading the ads saves you many a weary footstep . . . Many a jostle and shove . . . many a disappointment. Reading the ads, you'll almost always find you can save a few dollars to buy a nicer gift for someone very special or to bank away for next Christmas.

And remember this! Advertised merchandise is always better merchandise. At Christmas time. And all the year 'round.

At The Theatres

Kingston: "Sitting Pretty." Jack Oakie, Ginger Rogers, and Jack Haley are among the prominent names present in this gay and sparkling musical comedy by Paramount. Along with numerous songs, clever dance routines, and some of the best action and comedy seen in many a day, this musical story, with its excellent cast and talented choruses, is worth an evening of enjoyable entertainment.

Orpheum: "Ladies Must Love" and "Racing Strips." The first offering with Jack Knight, Dorothy Burgess and Neil Hamilton, in the story of three young ladies who decide to pool the profits of their joint gold digger, so that all may live in comfort and luxury. It all works fine until one of the girls falls in love. "Racing Strips" offers Wallace Reid, Jr., Phyllis Barrington and Dickie Moore in a racing story.

Broadway: "Rustler's Roundup" and vaudeville on the Broadway stage. Tom Mix, the old maestro of western melodrama, along with Yvon, Jr., a fine supporting cast, an exciting story and some exceptional scenery, scores again in this fast moving tale of gun battles, fist fights, trickery and romance under the western skies. All lovers of cowboy tactics will find this show to their liking. Along with the picture, the Broadway presents another vaudeville bill, that promises to be as good as the ones preceding it.

Tomorrow

Kingston: Same.

Orpheum: "The Silver Cord" and "The Big Chance." Irene Dunne, Joel McCrea, Laura Hope Crews, Eric Linden and Frances Dee are featured in the first offering, a study of mother love struggling against the woman her own loves. "The Big Chance" is exciting of plot and it offers such capable players as Mickey Rooney, John Barrymore and Merna Kennedy.

Broadway: "Flying Devils" Arlene Judge, Bruce Cabot, Ralph Bellamy and Eric Linden are hard and heroically in this airplane story of brother sacrifice. It's all about a flying circus, with Ralph Bellamy, boss of the outfit, trying to kill Eric Linden for falling in love with his wife. Bruce Cabot, in the role of Eric Linden's brother, saves his brother through personal sacrifice. The air scenes are grand and thrilling and Cliff Edwards, as a drunken aviator, lends merriment to an otherwise drab tale.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 9 (AP)—Stock market specialists were given a whirl in today's brief session and gained 1 to 2 or more points accompanied further improvement in trading sentiment. Late profit taking was absorbed readily and the more active issues worked higher. The close was firm. Transfers approximated 946,649 shares.

There was again no alteration of the domestic gold rate and the dollar followed a quiet and steady course in foreign exchange dealings. Both sterling and franc markets fluctuated narrowly. Wheat, at mid-day, was up around a cent, and other cereals improved. Cotton was also better. Secondary bonds were again in demand, but U. S. government securities were a trade off.

Shares of Auburn, a former bull market bellwether, jumped more than 6 points, and Armour preferred got up about as much. American Commercial Alcohol stepped forward more than 4 and Allied Chemical was a gainer of 3. Westinghouse, Case, U. S. Industrial Alcohol and Chrysler advanced 2 or more. Other recoveries of telephone, U. S. Steel, U. S. Smelting, Santa Fe, National Distillers, N. Y. Central, Western Union, Union Pacific, American Can, United Aircraft and Sears Roebuck.

Proponents of advancing equity prices continue to pay more attention to trade and industrial indices while not ignoring the monetary problem. Some business analysts estimate that consumer income for the next six months may be 20 per cent or more ahead of the corresponding period a year ago. The public works program, it was pointed out, is assuming considerable significance as a potential business stimulant and it was believed that retail trade this month should compare favorably with the pre-holiday totals of both 1932 and 1931.

Benefit Concert Was Great Success

Eyes," by Logan, comprised another group of songs by the Mendelssohn Club. "Dreams" was one of the best song numbers by the club, and "Life This Eyes," was repeated as an encore number.

Again Kingston is honored musically to have among its "Own Folks," such an artist as Miss Helen Sheldon, harpist. This well-loved instrument calling for real skill on the part of the performer, is rarely heard as a concert solo instrument and Miss Sheldon is a very real asset, possessed of exceptional technique and a poet's interpretation of the lovely harp music that she plays. The "Maurice" by Schaeffer was a delightful introduction to Miss Sheldon and her harp. "Will o' the Whip," by Haffemann, dainty and capricious, demanded the finest technique from the soloist and these demands were admirably met. The beautiful, golden harp, and Miss Sheldon in her gown of cloth of gold seemed to belong to the charm of the Dance Orientale by Cadry. The harpist was so enthusiastically applauded that she offered an encore, a rarely heard number with a charming harmonic, written by an English composer, Alfred Toulmin, for Maude Morgan, the world famous harpist. Miss Morgan transcribed the music from her own manuscript for Miss Sheldon. Probably this was the best heard number that Miss Sheldon played.

The program closed with three Christmas-tide numbers sung by the Mendelssohn Club. They were "Sing Noel," an Old French Carol, in which Mrs. Wolfersteig sang the incidental solo beautifully; "Pat-a-lan," an Old Burgundian Carol, jolly in character, and the incomparable "Adeste Fideles," arranged by Ralph W. Haldwin, and in which the audience took part.

Just before the last group of songs, Superintendent, an Ingenue, a member of the Welfare Coordinating Committee, on their behalf, thanked Conductor Tidmarsh, Vernon Miller, the president of the Mendelssohn Club, and the members of the club for the enjoyable and inspiring concert. He also thanked Mrs. Cabbler, Mrs. Wolfersteig and Miss Sheldon for giving so freely of their talents for the entertainment of so many music lovers, as well as Mrs. Nadeau, accompanist, so recently a Kingston High School graduate. The Press, the Business men and the Board of Education were thanked for their share in making the concert a free will offering to the community, nor did he forget the busy ticket sellers and the H-Y girls who so graciously met the members of the audience and showed them to seats. As the talent was given, every dollar of the proceeds would go, said Mr. Van Ingen, to buy shoes and clothing for our needy boys and girls in the school, and as a result of this concert there would be a great many little feet that would trip, dry-shod and warm to school and many little bodies would be warmly enough clad to go to school.

The members of the Welfare Committee are: T. Hampden Jones, chairman; B. C. Van Ingen, Lester Elmdorf, Bernard Feener, Mrs. Elmdorf, Mrs. G. F. Rice, Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mrs. H. T. Decker and Mrs. Clyde K. Wood.

CANFIELD SAYS WORKERS AWAIT CWA ACTION

December 7th, 1933.

Harry L. Hopkins, Administrator, Federal Civil Works Administration, Washington, D. C.

Special Delivery—Air Mail.

Dear Mr. Hopkins:

I believe you are acquainted with the policies and activities of our organization.

There are over 3,000 unskilled and over 500 skilled workers employed in this, a neighboring city of President Roosevelt.

At least 2,000 of these men are heads of families. They are all in acute need of work or help. There has been practically no relief work here during the past month.

When the Civil Works Program statement was issued by President Roosevelt and you on November 15th, it came like an emancipation proclamation to these jobless, and it flashed a new light of hope in their respective homes. It was interpreted by them as real "new deal" with the expectation and understanding from reading such statements that they would be given employment within at least February 15th.

Over 2,000 unemployed are registered with our Association and it was the first time this past year that I had seen hundreds of them actually smile and display absolute faith in the President and also in your administration.

The first men went to work under the Civil Works Program in our City on Tuesday of this week. About 60 were put on and today I understand there are about 200. Also, an arbitrary allotment of only 636 men was given to the local board yesterday. This will only provide for about one-fourth of the unemployed in our city who are in immediate need of employment. The statement of the President reported in the newspapers was to the effect that this new program "was designed to remove from relief all employable persons."

The unemployed here look to you as the representative of the President to lift them out of this situation and they appeal to you for employment under the new program.

Respectfully,

PALMER CANFIELD,
Chairman Executive Comm.
Workers Co-op. Also.

The Law Looks At The Criminal

Joseph B. Keenan, assistant attorney general of the United States, finds the nation's crime situation changing as repeal efforts. Here illustrated are a few of his questions as to the transformations taking place.

Asst. Atty. General Says Fate of Dry Era's Gangdom Hinges on Citizen's Stand

What does repeal of prohibition mean for the liquor law violators and gangsters who fattened on it? What does it mean to those sworn to enforce the law? What is the responsibility of the citizen now that the eighteenth amendment is repealed? These are three aspects of repeal, here discussed by Joseph B. Keenan of the department of justice of the United States.

By JOSEPH B. KEENAN
Assistant Attorney General of the United States.

(Written For The Associated Press.)

Discussion of the crime situation after repeal of the eighteenth amendment can only be predicted. And prediction is always hazardous. But the purpose of forecasting is the practical one of trying to foresee what may happen, and of forestalling with due vigilance any evils we can forestall through knowledge of past experiences.

The illicit sale of liquor aided by lack of public support of prohibition did three things to the world of crime.

1. It brought new criminals into the field.

2. It transplanted many of the more fertile-minded, bolder criminals into easier and more profitable work.

3. It made it possible for the former safe-cracker and stick-up man, abhorrent types, to put their feet up on the same desk with responsible citizens.

It was not unusual for "John Smith," a former safe-cracker turned bootlegger, to visit a business man and end up in a conversation. They actually sat down and talked.

The criminal became less of an outcast. He came to know politicians and some types of law-enforcement officers who were not one-hundred per cent scrupulous and yet not wholly dishonest.

Before prohibition these politicians and officers would scarcely have known a safe-cracker and certainly would not have associated with him. But they did, and do, associate with bootleggers. The criminal forced the officer from a twilight zone into actual corruption.

The result was that bootlegging had power with politicians.

Now, recent experiences lead me to believe that this alliance of integrating. Such political alliances of criminal with law-enforcement agent are breaking up. Crime conditions are clearing up in metropolitan areas because revenue is slipping out from under the world of crime.

Here is an example. In the recent trial of Roger Touhy on a charge of kidnapping in St. Paul it developed that Touhy wanted to sell his house.

A Home Fit For Royalty.

That home was like a baronial estate. He had shifts of guards, a swimming pool, his own telephone system. He had offered his beer plant equipment for sale at $5,000, and the plant had a capacity of 72,000 barrels a year. He must have seen the handwriting on the wall for his type and for his form of making a living.

Touhy had been picked up in July with a gang in a high-powered car that contained six guns which would have been too big for Jesse James, and a box of ammunition that one man could not have carried. Why did he have them?

Generally, that situation is one we must guard against. We prophesied that these liquor barons would be turning to some other form of work. Now we have the evidence that points in that direction. That means we must be all the more on the guard.

But the department of justice is preparing by making a complete record of all bootleggers in the various areas. When and if crime breaks out in other directions, we will be prepared to bring the criminals in.

Average Citizen Can Help.

The average citizen can help most by his attitude and by his self-control.

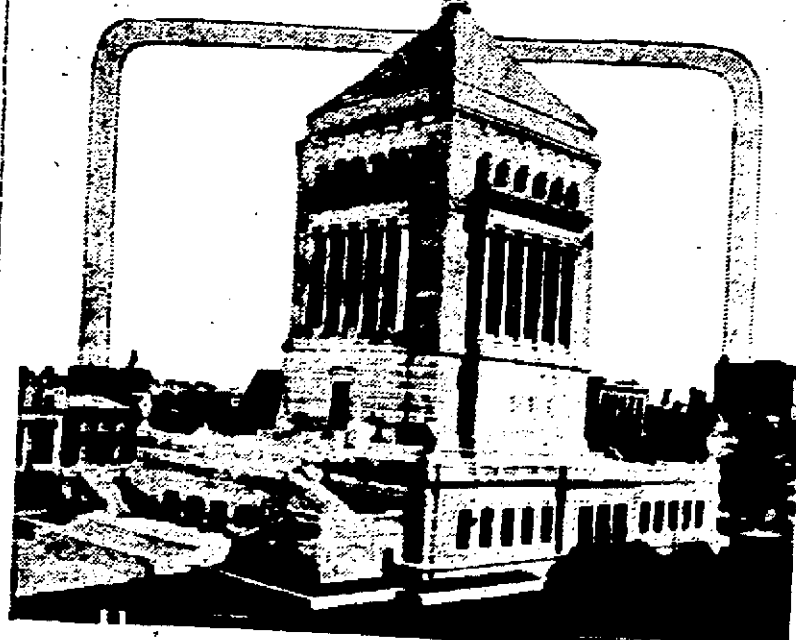

He must assist an enlightened administration that is moving to his aid. Remember that the same type of selfish and mercenary individualism which caused prohibition, the unethical manufacture and distiller, will still be out for easy money.

We can aid the administration and government most by contempt for the man with the hangover of speakeasy days, the man who still thinks it "smart" to circumvent regulations. We must realize that the man is a poor sport who can't have whole some respect for regulations; for instance, the man who wants to coax a bartender to sell drinks after closing hour.

That means the average man must take a more active part in self-government by obeying the law and showing his contempt for the man who doesn't.

And, it should be easier to get cooperation of citizens on this score now that fanaticism has been written out of the law.

Catskill and Wasps Will Settle Superiority Sunday

The Catskill football team, which claims superiority to the Yellow Jackets, despite the Wasps' victory over Hudson and consequently their recognized right to claim the championship of the Hudson valley in the semi-pro ranks, will come here Sunday with intentions of swarming all over Ken Dwyer's gridiron at the Kingston Fair Grounds to prove their contention that they are better than the eleven which could not defeat Newburgh, a feat they accomplished by the score of 14-13.

Starting time of the big grid war is 2:30 and lots of action is expected to take place from the opening to the final whistle. A crowd is anticipated as followers of both teams are anxious about the duel.

Manager Dwyer will use his regular lineup, including Beany, Christ, Mas, Hupfer, Minasian, Mohr and Flanagan. Pete Minasian, brother of Eddie, and a former Jacket star, will replace Winkly in the local lineup. Winkly was injured in a recent game.

Catskill will have battling for its honor the best available players in Greene county, including Edsel Walker, heavyweight negro backfield star. The rest of the lot has on it the names of Dunn, Wilbur, and Voerge as mates of Walker in the ball carrying division; Barclay and Day, ends; Townsend and Kelly, tackles; Malvino and Nell, Guards, and Miller, center.

If Kingston trumps Catskill, the victory will be its seventh. Last week it defeated Hudson, 13-7, in the match booked as the battle for the championship of the Hudson valley. Prior to that skirmish the Jackets trimmed Poughkeepsie twice, the Saratoga Elms, Bears, Albany Lackey Strikers and the Wakefield Pros. It lost two games, one to Fardham A. A. and the other to Sing Sing and played one tie, a 7-7 affair with Newburgh.

Because of that even battle with the Hill City eleven, the Catskill team claims superiority over the Yellow Jackets. The Greene county boys outscored the downriver club by one point. But they failed to beat Hudson in two tries and therefore the Wasps hold themselves superior by virtue of their victory over this contingent.

Individual Stars To Clash In Big Game

The twinkling feet of captain Cliff Montgomery and the accurate toe of Newt Wilder, 200-pound center, combine the weapons by which the Columbia Lions hope to match Stanford's scoring power in their Home Bowl Indians biggest offensive game.

Spinny's Defeat Liths, Kendalls Crush Aces

Captain Dan Joyce's Spinny Five chalked up its second victory over the Amsterdam Lithuanians, and its ninth of the season, at Pythian Hall, Port Ewen, Friday night, winning over the upstarters by the score of 35-28.

The teams battled on even terms in the first quarter, which ended 9-8 in favor of the home club, but in the second, the Spinny's led by "Bing" Van Riten, highest individual scorer of the contest, put on a shooting exhibition that had them 10 points in the lead at the intermission, 24-14. Amsterdam endeavored to rally in the third period, but was unable to overcome the Port Eweners, who finished strong in the last quarter and turned in their ninth victory of the season.

Hank Krum and Dan Joyce finished behind Van Ethen in the point collecting campaign for the Spinnymen. Kiseles and Hewson did the heaviest shooting for the Liths.

Preliminary to the big attraction, the Kendall Five drove the Port Ewen Aces all around the court and finished in front by the margin of 35-14. The Gillmen grew stronger as the contest went into the finishing stages, collecting most of their points after the intermission, at which they led by 10 markers, 19-9. Leading the Kendalls were Rhymer, Erory and Zeeh, and Galbraith, Port Ewen, as shown by the list of individual scores.

Tonight the Kendalls will play the Hellos of Newburgh at the Y. M. C. A. in that city.

Next Tuesday the Spinny Club will travel to Poughkeepsie for a battle with the Brewers at Columbus Institute.

SPORT SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

Chuck Klein goes from the Phillies to the Cubs in a deal that may prove the most striking shift since the Yankees got Babe Ruth from the Red Sox.

The National League's foremost slugger, oddly enough, is the man who replaced the Babe as the All-American right-fielder. He gained the distinction three years ago, on the strength of his remarkable all-around batting, base-running and defensive skill. He has held it ever since.

Klein changes uniforms and passes from a second-division outfit to a pennant contender in the prime of his career. The Indianapolis delegate to the big show has just passed his 28th birthday. He has just finished his fifth full season in the majors, with a record averaging close to .360 at bat over the stretch, thereby putting him in the same class with such all-time hitters as Cobb, Hornsby, Ruth, Speaker, Terry and O'Doul.

Versatile.

To show the variety of his talents, Klein led the National League base-stealers in 1932, while adding to his slugging achievements. He won the batting championship this year for the first time, besides leading the league in hits, runs batted in, doubles and home runs.

He has compiled the highest slugging average in the National League for the last three years and was runner-up twice before that. He has been first or second in runs batted in for the past four years.

In common with most other sluggers, his home run production has fallen off somewhat with the less lively National League ball, dropping steadily from 43 in 1929 to 23 in 1932, but he has been in the top in this specialty too, for three consecutive seasons. His principal rival in Major Out of the Giants, now that Hack Wilson has subsided.

With an attractive right-field bleacher target to shoot at during his home stands with the Cubs next year Klein should fatten his home run totals. This barrier is the one that Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig had so much fun using for a target in the 1932 world series.

Break for Chuck.

Although he has never been known to squawk about it, Klein's term with the financially embarrassed Phillies has been marked by the lowest salary paid any star of his dimensions in either league.

While Babe Ruth was collecting $50,000 for a couple of seasons and Hack Wilson drawing down over $30,000 on the strength of one big year, Klein was on the payroll for $7,500.

Chuck finally wangled a new contract despite the depression but it is doubtful if it called for more than $10,000 per annum. He may get twice that much when he comes to terms with the Cubs and not even have to argue about it.

BILLIARDS

The city championship billiard tournament will start next week at Nick's on Wall street with Tony Gentile, 1932 title winner, meeting Freddie Plancher, one of the strongest contenders for his crown. It is expected that a large gallery of fans will witness the opening match and the rest scheduled for the week as follows:

Monday, December 11, 8 p. m.

Fred Plancher vs. Tony Gentile.

Tuesday, December 12, 8 p. m.

Julius Teller vs. Bob East.

Thursday, December 14, 8 p. m.

Conservation Corps Quintet To Oppose Z. N. P. Tuesday

Having defeated the Dennings Point Five of Beacon, a team which previous to coming to Kingston this week had won 36 games, the Z. N. P. Sporting Club quintet feels confident of being able to head the Citizens' Conservation Corps basketballers of Bolleville down the home stretch at White Eagle Hall, Delaware avenue, next Tuesday night.

The game is expected to jam the hall to capacity, because ever since the announcement that the Foresters would oppose the Polish boys in their regular weekly contest, fans have been commenting favorably upon the match made by Manager "Dolly" Tessio, who foresees a victory for his Z. N. P.'s despite the woodsmen's threats that they will push the Kingston cagers off the winning path. A large delegation of

Dundee Awarded Win Over Callahan

Boston, Dec. 9 (AP).—Now that he has met his obligations with the Boston Garden, which forced him to sign a two-match contract in return for his successful shot at the middleweight title, Vince Dundee today appeared well on the road to whatever riches a ring title commands in this defeated era.

This 28-year-old Baltimore Italian last night shaded Andy Callahan, stubby Lawrence fighter and the first challenger for the title Dundee gained from the luckless Lou Brouillard five weeks ago.

Callahan fought himself out during the first 10 rounds. It was his first trip over the 15-round route and in his efforts to flatten the skillful titlist, he wasted too much energy, with the result that Dundee, who weathered several terrific storms as he patiently waited for Callahan to shoot his bolt, came with a wild rush during the last five sessions and was rewarded with a divided decision.

Shields and Wood Are Best U.S. Combination For Davis Cup Queen

By EDWARD J. NEEL

(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

New York, Dec. 9 (AP).—Edward Vines believes Frank Shields and Sidney H. Wood would make up the best possible team the United States could send in quest of the Davis Cup in 1934.

"They couldn't win," he said, "they could lose most gracefully." The tall, gauging California boy who joined Bill Tilden's professional tennis troupe after losing his Wimbledon and American singles crown last year and collapsing before the Australian threats in the latter-finals in Paris, thinks we should follow the rebuilding procedure of the French.

"We should send youngsters like Gene Mack or Frankie Parker," he said. "They'd be beaten too. The scores probably would be larger, but if anybody is to be developed who can win back the Davis Cup, he'll come from among the new talent and not the players who have been around for several years."

Considered Management.
Vines doesn't believe the Davis Cup team can get anywhere, either until something is done about its management. Bernard B. Prentiss, chairman of the Davis Cup committee and captain of the team, directed the campaign last summer.

"We need a professional at the helm," Vines said. "A man like Bill Tilden or Vinnie Richards. They could tell you during a match who you were doing wrong. They understand conditions. They'd do more than just watch umpires and decisions and look out for changes in the ball."

Vines admitted that probably nothing could have saved the Davis Cup team last summer, but he does believe that professional supervision would have made it possible for the American squad to have beaten France in 1932. He blamed his own failure during the past season on "chips on my mind, officials harrasing me and too much tennis." He exposed to play the best tennis of his career as a professional.

Another Turning Pro.
Another amateur will join the professional ranks in April. Bill O'Brien, who is directing the troupe headed by Tilden, remarked during the discussion.

"I can't tell you his name," he said. "But he's a fellow who has been making many deals, and whom the U. S. L. T. A. is counting upon for next year's Davis Cup team."

Vines starts his professional play here against Tilden in a single match in Madison Square Garden, Monday, January 10. His tour will take him to 23 cities all over the United States, winding up a 38 match schedule on March 23 in Albany, N. Y. There is a possibility that a squad of professional players will then go abroad for a European tour.

Roy Chapman Andrews lectures.
One high light of the Lyceum course up to date was on Thursday night, December 7, in the Normal Auditorium, when Roy Chapman Andrews, internationally famous scientist, lectured on his expeditions, a cross-section of prehistoric and modern life, which he dramatized in motion picture. For his "Explorations in the Gobi Desert" his pictures were selected from his 100,000 feet of film. Other many beautiful pictures of desert life were shown. With slides he gave the story of the life of the Mongol people, among many other interesting things he described the Dune Dwellers, a mystery people who lived in the Gobi Desert 20,000 years ago. Mr. Andrews spoke on the phase of his present work which concerns primitive man. Mr. Andrews was chief of the division of Asiatic exploration of the American Museum of Natural History in New York city and vice director in charge of exploration and research. He explored Alaska in 1908 and later Dutch East Indies, Borneo, the Celebes. In 1913 he gave the world much valuable geological data concerning North Korea, the little known and inaccessible peninsula north of China. His specialty until 1914 was the study of whales of which little of scientific importance was known. One of Mr. Andrews' well-known expeditions was the series of trips into the interior of Asia during 1921-1929. In 1925 came the discovery of dinosaurs' eggs.

This was completed and its use practically every day of the week in a week-day school of religion and for social and religious activities justify the vision of those who looked ahead to this day, as the entirely residential occupation of the Second Ward justified the moving from Clifton avenue to Elmwood street just before the earlier move from Clinton avenue.

Recent renovations have included a rearrangement of the pulpit platform making for greater convenience and beauty in the interior, and a rearrangement of rooms in the Ramsey Memorial Chapel, installed at the Tremper avenue end for week-day worship and more space for the growing primary department of the church school. New equipment within the past year includes a new pulpit in the church, a lectern for the Ramsey Memorial Chapel, installed this year, new hymnals for the church school, new maroon vestments for the junior choir of boys and girls and new vestments ordered for the senior choir, tassel-gown of Copenhagen blue and white surplices. Both choirs have now been organized for a little more than a year.

In the 80 years since it was organized, the church has been served by 10 pastors, including the present one, and three stated supplies for shorter periods of about a year. The longest pastorate was that of the Rev. Putnam Cady, D. D., who preceded the present minister, Dr. Goodrich Gates. Dr. Cady was pastor for nearly 15 years. Two other ministers served nearly as long, Dr. J. F. Williamson, who left in 1895, and Dr. R. C. Dodds, who preceded Dr. Cady. Each man served for 11 years. Of the two pastors, only two are known to be living. L. W. Barney, who was pastored before Dr. Dodds and now resides in Michigan, and Dr. Cady, who left to become pastor of the Reformed Church in Fond du Lac.

The first minister was Dr. Henry W. Smuller, pastor of the Fair Street Reformed Church before the First Presbyterian Church was organized. His successor, Dr. John Lillie, was a noted theologian whose commentaries on the Scriptures are still consulted and valued, and whose translations of the New Testament won him his doctorate from his Alma Mater, the University of Edinburgh, from which he had been graduated as student in the most brilliant class of a half a century, first in a class of 2,000. Before his Presbyterian pastorate here, he had served the First Reformed Church of Kingston. A splendid portrait of Dr. Lillie recently was presented to the church by Miss Martha Van Aken, 249 Washington avenue, in honor of the church's 80th birthday.

Informal celebration began Thursday night with a church family supper served by the women of the New Era League. The only other recognition of the date will be this Sunday, in the worship to which services members and former members have been invited as to a "Homecoming Sunday" celebration.

In the evening, beginning at 7:30, the new open forum type of service recently inaugurated, will be held. Topic of Dr. Gates' address then will be, "How to Tell the Difference Between Right and Wrong." Following this the discussion will be held in the church parlors on the general subjects, "Are the Old Morals Gone?" and "What New Morals Are Needed?"

Elephants Afraid of Mice
Elephants are actually afraid of mice and other small animals, the reason being that mice make elephants nervous by running up their legs and sometimes getting into their ears, or running up their trunks. An elephant's eyesight is poor, and he is therefore practically helpless if a mouse gets on his body.

Of course the results sought in all cases are the protection and welfare of the children of this community. If such results have been obtained and if the children appearing before this court have been protected where they needed protection, helped where they needed help and punished where punishment seemed necessary, credit is due in large measure for these accomplishments to the good work done by Mary C. Doremus, County Agent for Dependent Children, Barbara R. Baum, Catholic Charities Agent, and Robert J. Service, Chief Probation Officer.
The court, in every case required, has received the hearty cooperation of the county agent, who has made numerous investigations and reports and who has attended the majority of the sessions of the children's court during the period covered by the report and has assisted the court by her counsel and advice in the many puzzling cases which have arisen.

The Catholic Charities Agent has given the court the benefit of her assistance in the disposition of the cases in which she was officially interested and has rendered valuable service to the court.

The Chief Probation Officer has taken charge of many probationers and has worked with them and given most efficient attention to their cases. He has done his work well and thoroughly and has accomplished much toward the protection and the reformation of the children whose cases have been committed to his care.

The court takes this opportunity of expressing and publishing his appreciation for the assistance of the above-mentioned officials and also for the ready cooperation he has received from the sheriff's office and the state police.

Respectfully submitted,
FREDERICK G. TRAYER
County Judge of Ulster County and Judge of the Children's Court.

Recording Wind Velocity
The weather bureau says that records showing the highest velocity of winds that occur in severe storms are rarely recorded, since the instruments for recording wind velocities are usually not capable of withstanding the highest velocities that are sometimes known to exist. However, a dependable velocity of 138 miles per hour was recorded at Cape Lookout, N. C., in August, 1879.
